Let's first build some plots looking at the possible relationship between each predictor and our outcome variable.